Welcome to '31'

43 years ago, we entered the precarious field of dance, interacting with a small but mighty force of independent artists through creation and discourse. Artistic thirst has kept us growing with new ideas, ways of listening, and interactions, against all odds. Our work Investigates the personal, interpersonal, relational, the socially relevant and the Holocaust.

Celebrating '31' years of Kaeja d'Dance has us looking back. Our journey has allowed us to explore the power of contemporary dance that speaks to audiences worldwide. Always humbling, it has been a gift to work and create with some of the most brilliant artists of our times who have shared with us their incredible artistry, voice, ideas and talent.

We are privileged to be in relationships with our collaborators, dancers, administrators, thinkers, leaders, community dancers, presenters, mentors, funders, volunteers and ultimately you, our audiences. We are thankful to you, to be here with you tonight, and to engage in this artful journey for over 31 years with you.

The performances that we are about to share with you this evening, bring together our life-long focuses in two different works, both of which engage in the concept of presence and absence - one of touch and the other of innocence. We hope '31' is a show that inspires and weaves a depth of reflection and resonance for you. We would love to hear from you after the show.

With love,
Karen and Allen

Land Acknowledgement

Kaeja d'Dance would like to acknowledge that we are situated upon traditional territories. Our artists, collaborators, staff and team are grateful to be creating art on this land that has been nurtured by recorded and unrecorded human activity for thousands of years. We honour and respect the traditional lands and waterways of the Wendat, Anishinabek Nation, the Haudenosaunee Confederacy, the Mississaugas of the Credit First Nation, and the Métis Nation.

We are in the 'Dish with One Spoon' territory - a treaty between these nations reflecting a commitment to share the territory and protect the land. We also recognize the enduring presence of diverse Indigenous peoples on this land.

About 31

Kaeja celebrates 31 years with two new dance works created by our Artistic Directors. Grounded in memory, Karen Kaeja's TouchX and Allen Kaeja's I am the Child of... investigate the complexity of our lived experiences. Community, perspective and a fascinating take on AR technology generate evocative worlds in this double-bill show. With over 25 collaborators, these works devise movement from deeply personal stories, examining the universal power of reflection, resilience, and the fragility of touch.

A Note About TouchX

"TouchX has been in development for seven years. Quite honestly, a lifetime. The thought, memory, fragility and ephemeral nature of touch has led me down a multi-layered multi-sensory path of what remains in the body through wanted and unwanted touch, contrasted with when our hearts have been touched. The world of the work holds a fertile immediacy complexified by the intersection of sensation and agency of touch. The work aims to reveal the fragile implications of touch when humanity experiences its presence and absence. TouchX is also devoted to those who have deeply touched our lives..." – Karen Kaeja

Moving Connections Project

A Moving Connections workshop held in December 2019 was instrumental in the development of relational materials and the Heart Phrase of TouchX. Gestures were developed by each individual related to the desire to connect to someone they have not seen for a while. These gestures became the Heart Phrase that was offered and shared in free workshops during COVID for almost 2 years online, led by some of the dancers in the work. The Heart Phrase is named after the late Sallie Lyons who described her gesture as being "pulled from the heart".
